What is Happy at Work?

The easiest tool on the market to measure well-being and levels of stress in your organization

We offer a technological tool that makes it easy and effective to measure the well-being and levels of stress in your organization

We believe in continuously evaluating the work environment with simple and insightful questions. This allows you to quickly find negative trends among the organization, in order to handle the issues before it's too late

Our unique simplicity

Simple dispatches

The survey is sent out by e-mail.
It is not necessary to log in or install an app

Quick answers

The answers are anonymous, done with one hand in less than 10 seconds.
These features make us unique!

Distinct results

The data is put together as statistics, which is easy to understand.
This information can directly be shared or downloaded as a pdf file

The tool works this easy

With Happy at Work, you can choose how often you want the surveys being sent out, and what questions you want them to contain

Thereafter, the system will automatically handle the dispatches. You will be warned if negative trends are found

The results of the surveys are presented weekly or monthly and can be filtered by different groups within the organization
